

EDUCATIONAL PROGRAMMES

A. UNDERGRADUATE COURSES

A1. Four-year* studies for a bachelor's degree (Hons) in Greece

- Business Administration with three pathways in Management, Marketing, Accounting
- Applied Computing
- Psychology
- Architectural Design Technology

A2. Two year studies in Greece and two year studies in Britain for a bachelor's degree in Britain

- Architectural Technology or Architecture
- Civil Engineering
- Electrical & Electronic Engineering
- Aeronautical & Mechanical Engineering

* Applicants with very good level of English may be accepted directly into the second year of the programmes.

B. POSTGRADUATE COURSES

- MBA
- MSc in Computing

STUDY FOR A BRITISH DEGREE AT THE CRADLE OF CIVILIZATION ATHENS - GREECE

Night view of the Acropolis with the Parthenon and the Theatre of Herodes Atticus

BRITISH-HELLENIC COLLEGE

11A Evelpidon Str. (Pedion Areos), 113 62, Athens, Greece • TEL.: +30 210 8220 560
• www.ellinovretaniko.gr Official Facebook page: <http://www.facebook.com/ellinovretaniko>

Degrees recognized by NARIC

With a license from the Ministry of Education
Member of the Hellenic Colleges' Association

BRITISH HELLENIC
COLLEGE

BRITISH HELLENIC COLLEGE is a well recognized educational institution which has been cooperating with British Universities since 1990. We offer higher education to students who are interested in studying according to British standards and acquiring British degrees, while living in Greece.

BRITISH HELLENIC COLLEGE holds a College operation license, issued by the Greek Ministry of Education (Ministerial Decision 119645/IA/2013).

We are offering 10 undergraduate and postgraduate Courses, franchised by the University of Glyndŵr (former member of the University of Wales).

All our students are registered at the University and receive a Registration Certificate by the University. Successful graduates obtain the University's respective certificates or diplomas and degrees. The degrees are also recognised both professionally and academically by the UK NARIC (National Academic Recognition Information Centre).

Students pursue these awards under strictly controlled academic conditions. They are enrolled as students of the University of Glyndŵr and they are assessed and examined under the University's Regulations and Academic Protocols.

Our operation is based on the compulsory, but conscious and creative attendance, hard effort for education, continuous work in the laboratories and the library, organisation and open communication between students and lecturers based on mutual respect. We expect our students to attend their classes and devote sufficient time to laboratory work and use of the library, in order to broaden their knowledge.

All classes have a maximum of 24 students and teaching is delivered by lecturers with postgraduate and/or doctorate studies in their field of expertise as well as educational and professional experience, so as to ensure high quality of education and transfer of knowledge and experience from the market.

Meanwhile, there is constant monitoring of the progress of each student in order to guarantee the provision of high quality studies to the students in a disciplined environment. At the same time students who want to study can be assured that they will graduate within a reasonable timeframe and that the majority will gain professional status after graduation.

British Hellenic College operates in modern premises, which have been specially designed in order to offer a pleasing and comfortable study environment.

The library contains several thousands of books and journals. Furthermore, continuous effort is made to enrich its content with up – to – date literature.

More than that, all students and staff have direct access to the electronic library of the University of Glyndŵr.

A “BRITISH” COLLEGE IN ATHENS

Starting from 2013-2014, British Hellenic College operates in new modern premises, along with the College AKTO, in Athens.

Athens campus

Athens is the capital of Greece, a city with almost 5.000.000 inhabitants.

The Athens building is situated in 11A Evelpidon Str. in the city centre, across “Pedio tou Areos” park and the entrance of Panhellenic Gymnastic Association. The School's convenient location gives the opportunity to the students to access easily all the public means of transport and be in the centre of city life.

The School is very near to the two most dominant hills of the city: the Acropolis hill – with Parthenon, a masterpiece of architecture - and Lycabettus hill with the church of St. George on top. There are hundreds of restaurants, bars and cafeterias near the School. The busiest places of Athens, like Plaka, Psiri, Theisio and Kolonaki are accessible on foot.

